5 Words: Family, grief, obligation, attraction, change. A Year At Meadowbrook Manor was a lovely way to start 2018. This book really has the feel-good factor, even if it does start off shrouded in grief. I loved the family dynamics, how even from beyond the grave the Singer siblings were almost taunted by their father.

When Grace enters into a bet with happily married Betty, the issue at stake is fidelity. The prize is Betty's husband. Grace and Betty were never going to be the best of friends. Grace is a honey trapper, hired to tempt unfaithful men, while Betty is a magazine journalist with a brief to write a profile of Grace's career. Each has a moral outlook that places them worlds apart and - inevitably - fireworks explode when Betty first interviews Grace. But fate plays its hand as the two women are manipulated into betting that Grace can't trap Betty's perfect husband, Johnny. While the roulette wheel of their lives spins ever faster, Grace, Betty and Johnny are caught up in a battle over the nature of love. But can there ever be a winner? And if so, who will it be?

When Taylor Romano arrives in Oxford for a summer journalism program, she learns secrets about her family's past and must use some historical sleuthing to uncover her link to a Titanic survivor named Ava Knight, a young English aristocrat, who boarded the Titanic and met three people who changed her life forever.

PEEP SHOW is about the making of a fly on the wall movie, where the cast have no idea that they are being filmed. An LA film crew, lead by Harvey Cannon, come to London to discover the next big thing. Tanya - ambitious wanna be film-maker lives with four slightly strange other people in a large house in Fulham. A chance meeting between Tanya and Harvey turns everything around. He finds Tanya's stories of her bizarre flat mates interesting - which results in his decision to make the first ever fly on the wall movie. Cameras are hidden all over the house and the only person who knows what's going on is Tanya. Ambition supersedes guilt on Tanya's part and soon she starts manipulating the drama. As Harvey and his crew become addicted to the lives of the people, the filming that once they were in control of takes control of them.

Would you ever consider a marriage pact? Holly did. In a heartbroken and drunken haze, it all seemed to make perfect sense. George was her best friend, would always be her best friend and, if they both found themselves single at the age of thirty, well, why not? But when, a decade later, a man Holly hasn't seen for years says she's signed a contract and has to marry him, she realises exactly why not. Forget the fact that her career is going places, forget that she's head-over-heels in love with a gorgeous boyfriend, George wants the pact fulfilled and will stop at nothing to get his way. Can I do become I don't? Or will it all end horribly ever after? Watch the confetti fly in this fabulous new novel from the bitingly funny Faith Bleasdale.

I Am No One You Know contains nineteen startling stories that bear witness to the remarkably varied lives of Americans of our time. In "Fire," a troubled young wife discovers a rare, radiant happiness in an adulterous relationship. In "Curly Red," a girl makes a decision to reveal a family secret, and changes her life irrevocably. In "The Girl with the Blackened Eye," selected for The Best American Mystery Stories 2001, a girl pushed to an even greater extreme of courage and desperation manages to survive her abduction by a serial killer. And in "Three Girls," two adventuresome NYU undergraduates seal their secret love by following, and protecting, Marilyn Monroe in disguise at Strand Used Books on a snowy evening in 1956. These vividly rendered portraits of women, men, and children testify to Oates's compassion for the mysterious and luminous resources of the human spirit.

Discover a sumptuous and haunting novel of medieval loves, lies and loyalties.
