This fictional re-creation of the battle of Shiloh in April 1862 is a stunning work of imaginative history, from Shelby Foote, beloved historian of the Civil War. Shiloh conveys not only the bloody choreography of Union and Confederate troops through the woods near Pittsburg Landing, Tennessee, but the inner movements of the combatants ' hearts and minds. Through the eyes of officers and illiterate foot soldiers, heroes and cowards, Shiloh creates a dramatic mosaic of a critical moment in the making of America, complete to the haze of gunsmoke and the stunned expression in the eyes of dying men. Shiloh, which was hailed by The New York Times as " imaginative, powerful, filled with precise visual details...a brilliant book " fulfills the standard set by Shelby Foote ' s monumental three-part chronical of the Civil War.

This graduate textbook covers topics in statistical theory essential for graduate students preparing for work on a Ph.D. degree in statistics. This new edition has been revised and updated and in this fourth printing, errors have been ironed out. The first chapter provides a quick overview of concepts and results in measure-theoretic probability theory that are useful in statistics. The second chapter introduces some fundamental concepts in statistical decision theory and inference. Subsequent chapters contain detailed studies on some important topics: unbiased estimation, parametric estimation, nonparametric estimation, hypothesis testing, and confidence sets. A large number of exercises in each chapter provide not only practice problems for students, but also many additional results.

In Mordin On Time, Nick Mordin sets out his method for answering the most fundamental question facing punters in any race, namely: which is the fastest horse? He was timing the sections of races with a stop watch, estimating wind strength and direction, adjusting for movements of running rails, using projected times and calculating average times years before the best-selling American books on speed rating were published. This new edition incorporates much new material, including standard times for all Irish racecourses (plus the major French ones). Mordin On Time enables the reader to construct their own speed ratings wherever they live.

Explains IBM's operating system, OS/2, including the new 32-bit version, OS/2 2.0, about to be released, for programmers, technical professionals, and software developers. Details its internals, its linkages, and its compatibility with other software, especially focusing on its use in personal computers and workstations. This annotated bibliography looks at an important portion of children's literature, books dealing with the subjects of war and peace. Covering a wide range of material, including picture books, parables, poetry, and biographies, the author has assembled a bibliographic listing of these works and provided publication information, recommended age level, and a brief annotation for each entry. Also included is a bibliography of works for adults that covers discussing war and peace with children and an extensive index.

Now in paperback and filled with stunning full-color photographs, Steve Swinburne's concept book introduces children to the basics of shadows. He then leads them on a shadow hunt, playing a game called "Guess Whose Shadow?," in which young ones will discover there's more to shadows than first meets the eye.

"Celebrizing Yourself" is a guide to branding oneself as an expert--an easier than ever feat, thanks to the popularity of talk show formats on radio and major network TV, the highly specialized programming on cable TV, the explosion of Internet shows, and online PR and marketing.

The step-by-step format of this text quickly demystifies UNIX and gives users the skills needed to put UNIX to work immediately. Includes an overview of the system, basic system administration tasks, basic UNIX programming, and more.
